Comment on the following problem:

Elderly people who live alone should be taken care of.

Write 100–120 words.

Some elderly people live with their relatives, when they can't support themselves, some - in special homes with health professionals. We are getting older, we want our future to be good. It's our duty to make our parent's life better when they get pensioners. There are some elderly people who despite their age don't have a family. Unfortunately, these things happen very often. Elderly people who live by themselves may be presented with a number of problems due to their living situation. They have to take care of themselves. I think that in such situations the new system is very useful. To leave elderly people with this device is the other way to be sure that they are fine. We should help the elderly. I hope, that we'll find a lot of ways to do it, because everyone should have bright future.
